

The use of Signaturit shoots up 212% during the Covid-19 crisis

MARCH 27, 2020.- Signaturit, the leading company in digital contract management, electronic signature, and certified emails, has managed 3 times more documents to sign during the first week of the crisis caused by the coronavirus than in the same period of 2019.

The reason is the need for companies and professionals to continue with their economic activity and at the same time manage their contracts and communications remotely digitally, given the limitations imposed by the health emergency.

This indicator is reinforced by the usage data of its current 1,800 customers. The consumption of credits of Signaturit products registered a growth of 210%, while the number of active users has increased by 75%.

The number of new companies using Signaturit services has grown 198% more than the one registered in the same period of the previous year. One of the main reasons for this growth has been the company's initiative, announced in a statement earlier this week, to offer 1 month of Signaturit for free with the code "StayAtHome". The objective is to help companies continue managing their activities.

For Juan Zamora, CEO of Signaturit, the new context does not change the mission of his company: "Our core business has always been to provide trusted digital services at a distance. At this very difficult time, we are at least glad to be of vital importance to many sectors, above all by helping people stay at home and that companies can continue to carry out all their tasks. The important thing is that we support each other, maintain the maximum normality and tranquility possible, despite the extreme difficulties. With these measures, we're taking care of our team and their families, and we join all the initiatives that seek to mitigate the economic problems that we are already facing".
